By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
LONDON—The conviction that the partition of Palestine will not be realized was expressed here by Vladimir Jobotinsky, president of the New Zionist Organization, addressing a mass meeting. He said that neither the British Government's White Paper nor the Royal Commission's Blue Book constituted a fait accompli.

Mrs. Edgar Dugdale, niece of the late Lord Balfour, declared in an address to a South London meeting that she desired to see a Jewish State in Palestine in the near future because "I think of what 2,000,000 Jews placed in that particular country could do for the peace of the world."

Major Jarvis, former Governor of Sinai, asserted in a speech to the Anglo-Palestine Club that after seeing Jewish achievements in "hopeless" areas he believed there were possibilities for settlement of a quarter of million Jews from central Europe in the Negev if the area in Southern Palestine were opened to them.

Catholics Urged To Fight Anti-Semitism

By Conference of Jews, Christians
WASHINGTON—A call to Catholics to "exert ourselves to the utmost in order to dispel the prevalent poisonous (anti-Jewish) atmosphere of falsehood and hate" is made in a report on "The Church and the Jews," just issued by the National Attitudes Committee of the Catholic Association for International Peace.

The report, which pleads for truth, justice and true Christian charity, is an examination of the question of anti-Semitism from the Catholic viewpoint and an attempt to present these views where they will be most effective.

The basis of the document is a collective statement made by eminent Catholic theologians and philosophers in Europe, translated by the Rev. Dr. Gregory Feige, of Jamaica, N. Y., who is an authority on the question. The committee issuing the report is under the chairmanship of Dr. Carlton J. H. Hayes, of Columbia University, New York, who is also Catholic co-chairman of The National Conference of Jews and Christians.

Published in pamphlet form, the report examines and rejects the theological foundations of the claims that Christ Himself was the strongest opponent of the Jews and even the first anti-Semite. It likewise refutes the modernistic assertion that Yahwe, the God of the Old Testament, was but a tribal deity and it disproves the alleged scriptural thesis that Israel is eternally damned for its guilt in rejecting the Savior.

The report not only points out that the Catholic Church habitually prays for the Jews, but also quotes from a decree of the Holy Office which condemns anti-Semitism.

Accompanied by Mrs. Lehman and his sister, Mrs. Philip J. Goodhart, he paid a call to the institution in the afternoon. The observance is an annual tribute to the Governor's mother, Mrs. Babette Lehman, who was a director of the Home.

Community Thanksgiving services were held in temples and synagogues throughout the city, many congregations joining with neighborhood churches and other synagogues in joint services.

Poles Demand Britain Act

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

WARSAW—A nation-wide conference on Palestine urged Great Britain last week to carry out the Balfour Declaration as the only means of restoring order, and demanded extermination of terrorism in the Holy Land.

The 2,000 delegates, from all parts of Poland except Galicia, adopted an appeal to the British Government describing the Jews' self-sacrificing work in the face of the Palestine Government "vacillating policy" and asking that the Jews be given the means for self-defense.

Urging a strong hand to end "Chaos and insecurity," the appeal said that implementation of the Balfour Declaration was a matter of historic justice and the only means of bringing order, peace and the rule of law to Palestine.

The conference also demanded removal of restrictions on Jewish immigration and authorized its presidium to send, if necessary, a delegation to the British Government to present Polish Jewry's immigration demands.

410 Murders In Palestine In 1936-37, House Is Told

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

LONDON—Four hundred and ten murders have been committed in Palestine since Jan. 1, 1936, the House of Commons was informed by Colonial Secretary William Ormsby-Gore in reply to a number of questions on disorders in the Holy Land.

The courts returned 113 convictions in connection with the crimes, he revealed, of which seven were death sentences. One of the death sentences was reduced to penal servitude by the Court of Appeals and five others were commuted to long prison terms by the High Commissioner. Forty-two persons are still awaiting trial on murder charges, he disclosed.

Replying to a question by Tom Williams, Laborite, on how many of the murders were committed by Arabs and how many by Jews, Mr. Ormsby-Gore said: "It is very difficult to say, there have been murders by both. Certainly there have been more murders by Arabs than

Fascist 'Bund' At Harvard To Be 'Forerunner'

By Conference of Jews, Christians
CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—Functioning under the guise of Americanism, the Harvard University Fascist "Bund" last week announced that it plans to be the forerunner of a national college youth organization.

Speaking before its membership, Michael Adlis, Harvard Law school student and former All-American football star declared that the Bund "stands for the interests of our country, interests which we consider to be analogous to those asserted by Herr Hitler in Germany."

"To further our interests," he said, "we propose to establish a marching brigade modeled on Herr Hitler's, with joint symbols, the Nazi Hakenkreuz and the Star Spangled Banner, for our colors, the one representing the glorious ideals of nationalism and the other pure ideal of Americanism."

Jewish Prof Shows Bible Is Accurate

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
LONDON—How the work of the Hebrew University in Jerusalem has provided proofs of the accuracy of Biblical tradition was described by Dr. F. S. Bodenheimer when speaking at a meeting held under the auspices of the Barcai Association.

Dr. Bodenheimer said that his work at the University had begun with the Mount Sinai expedition in 1927 which had carried out research into the problem of manna. Tradition as recorded in the Bible had been found to be accurate in almost every detail, and the fact of the disappearance of the manna after the sun had risen had been clearly observed to be the work of the ants, who speedily consumed the millions of tiny grains of sugar. He had concluded that this sugar was exuded by certain small insects.

In the Bible it was stated that "worms" eat the manna, and even on this point, said Dr. Bodenheimer, the discrepancy between the names of the insects had been clarified. The Bodouin guides who had accompanied the expedition had, it transpired, a interchangeable name for worm and ant.

Benches No Help, Minister Admits

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

WARSAW—Education Minister Swietoslawski, addressing the Government Education Council, admitted that the situation in Polish universities had not improved with the introduction of "ghetto benches."

Cracow University joined universities in Warsaw, Poznan and Wilno in decreeing "ghetto" benches for use of Jewish students.

The university's rector, following repeated disorders arising from efforts of Nationalist students to force segregation of Jews and after a delegation had called on him with a request that the benches be instituted, announced the system would be introduced within the next few days. He called upon students to maintain order.

Meanwhile, attacks on Jews continued, Nationalist students beating up several and ejecting them from classrooms in the anatomical faculty.

Warsaw Engineering School, which was founded fifty years ago by the Jewish bankers, Wawelberg and Rotwand, refused to re-admit thirteen Jewish students expelled because they had balked at using "ghetto" benches. Senator Moses Schorr promised a delegation of students that he would intervene on their behalf with the Minister of Education.

Nationalist students in the mathematical faculty at Warsaw University forced Jewish students to occupy the segregated benches despite vigorous resistance.

Arrest Shows Nazis Pay For Fight On Jews

By BORIS SMOLAR
(Chief European Correspondent, J. T. A.)

BERNE, Switzerland—The Nazi Government's method of spreading anti-Semitism abroad and financing anti-Jewish activities throughout the world were revealed last week by the arrest here of Boris Toedli, a Swiss citizen, on suspicion of conducting espionage activities on behalf of Germany.

Police discovered in Toedli's home 300 documents and letters indicating that he and others were in constant touch with the Third Reich and received funds and instructions for stimulating anti-Jewish propaganda. Police impounded more than 150 of the documents and photographed them for use as evidence in Toedli's trial.

Among the documents are papers indicating that the German authorities finance the activities of White Russian anti-Semites and aid them to the point of issuing German visas to them.

An official receipt was found, signed by Toedli on May 5, 1935, acknowledging money from Germany "covering the cost of the Protocols trial." This evidently refers to the trial in Berne in the autumn of 1934 in which the Jewish community instituted libel proceedings against Swiss Nazi leaders for distributing the "Protocols of the Elders of Zion," purported record of a plot for Jewish domination of the world. The verdict at this trial declared the "Protocols" a forgery.

The seized documents also involve a number of Russians in Paris and Harbin, Manchukuo, including Markoff, the notorious leader of the anti-Semitic fraction of the pre-Revolutionary Russian Duma. According to information received here, Markoff recently transferred from Paris to Erfurt, Germany, where he is acting as assistant to Col. Ulrich Fleischer's "Weltdienst," world-wide anti-Semitic propaganda service.

Toedli, it was shown, acted as Berne representative of the Welt-dienst, as well as Gauleiter (Nazi district leader) for Berne and also deputy leader of the Russian World Fascist Organization, which had headquarters in Harbin. Although Swiss-born, Toedli lived most of his life in Russia, and the Nazis assertedly brought him from Harbin to Switzerland in order to use his Swiss citizenship to cover up his Nazi activities.

Among Toedli's documents police unearthed a list of false names under which 26 Nazi agents were said to be operating in various countries. The papers also revealed that German consulates have been instructed to issue visas to White Russians acting as German agents who are incapable of obtaining visas from the Nansen International Office.

The Editor's Chair:

For reasons which my friends know best, I have hesitated to write about inter-marriage. But I have just heard a charming incident that deserves re-telling, regardless of the rules.

It was down in Panama. Both children attended Hebrew School, and the parents were consistent synagogue-goers. I think the eldest boy was twelve years old. Now, ever since the wedding, the mother had not seen her husband's relatives, and now the family were making a trip back to the States.

Which of course, created a real problem. She was a Costa Rican, and before her marriage, a Catholic, as are most native whites in Central and South America. Yet she was as fine a Jewish woman as Naomi, if you please.

So it was with considerable misgivings that the voyage was planned. But after all any man wants his parents to know his family, and regardless of the impending complications, the family left for New York.

This is no tragedy. It was decided to misrepresent. You know—a little white lie. The husband introduced his wife as a Jewess. And, if you want to know the truth, she was a fine Jewess.

And so the problem was solved. The husband's people were completely captivated by their daughter-in-law, her observance of Jewish law, and her love for their son. The two boys won the hearts of their grand-parents, and a happier and more doting grand-father you couldn't find anywhere.

The incident strikes me as charming. Diogenes might object, but I know we'll forgive the little white lie.

BUDGET IS $66,350

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

DETROIT—Junior Hadassah, concluding its fourteenth annual convention, adopted a budget of $66,350 for the coming year and a resolution urging Britain to use a firm hand to stamp out violence in Palestine and establish peace. Five hundred delegates attended the four-day session at the Hotel Statler.

The resolution commended Britain for what it called a determined stand to quell terroristic acts and the lawless Arabs. The Colonial Office was urged to select as the successor to High Commissioner Wauchope a man who would show determination in eradicating violence.

Mrs. Roosevelt's Remarks Explained

THE statement made by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt to Edward E. Grusd, managing editor of the B'nai B'rith Magazine that anti-Semitism should be ignored, will meet with the approval of many American Jews.

Yet the obvious fallacy of following such advice is made so readily apparent by a resume of anti-Defamation work in the November issue of the same magazine, that Mrs. Roosevelt's assertions must be taken as censure not for quiet, effective attempts to still the voice of the anti-Semite, but against the loud, publicity-seeking group who fight anti-Jewish attempts with their voice instead of with their wits.

Beginning on page 84, the November issue lists just a few of successful fights against anti-Semitism under such headings as, "Anti-Semitic Group Dies After League Exposure", "Radio Advertiser Admits Errors of Carelessness", and "Park Board Cooperates In Passion Play Cause". Each of these incidents could have been, if Mrs. Roosevelt's advice were taken literally, ignored, with much subsequent harm.

A crime against a group may be even more serious than murder or assault, yet no one would be so foolhardy as to suggest that either murder or assault be ignored.

Police Must Respect Bingo In Churches

HOW our sympathy goes out to the good clergymen of Cincinnati whom the police and the city administration are persecuting, much as the early Christians were persecuted in the first days of the Christian era. In their drive on gambling, card games and dice shooting, the police have disturbed the good men of the pulpit of Cincinnati, and have made so bold as to suggest that "bingo" with its large crowds and its huge stakes, can be classed with dice and cards.

So the clergymen, in a mass, visited the city hall, and cried aloud at the lack of respect for that which is holy. There have been no murders or shootings at Bingo games in Cincinnati, as in the night club near Louisville, at least not yet, and no one in the Ohio City has hurled the open charge of "cheating" at the bingo games as recently in Indianapolis, at least not yet.

It is high time that police be taught their station. Bingo games in which prizes total as high as $500 are not gambling, they are bingo and nothing more. And city manager Robert Sherrill's statement that, "I am glad to see that bingo games are not being advertised or publicized by their supporters the way that they used to be," shows the proper respect. The police and the city are glad that bingo, although it has nothing to be ashamed of, is going under cover so to speak.

Bingo is not gambling. The stakes are higher, and Bingo games are conducted in churches. This is proof enough. What more is needed.

Is It Flesh Or Fowl?

SO bald is the announcement of the establishment of a Nazi "bund" at Harvard University that one is inclined to believe the movement is a huge joke intended to ridicule the Nazis in the same order as that Princeton future veterans organization which laughed out of existence a second bonus demand.

"We propose to establish a marching brigade modeled on Herr Hitler's, with joint symbols, the Nazi Hakenkreuz and the Star Spangled Banner for our colors, the one representing the glorious ideals of nationalism and the other pure ideal of Americanism", Michael Adlis, Harvard Law School student and former All-American football star, declared.

Adlis had better get in shape for a worse battle than football when he attempts to put into actual practice his dream of marching the Nazi flag side by side with the American banner down the Harvard campus.

Comments On Current Topics

Rabbi Elias Charry, of Congregation Beth-El-Zedeck, Indianapolis, commenting on an editorial in The American Hebrew.—We should call out a holiday. The American Hebrew has become an organ of the Agudas Yisroel, the right-wing ultra-orthodox section of world Jewry. So it would seem from the leading editorial of Nov. 19, on "Jewish Secularism."

The editorial, in reality, should be entitled "The Duties of the Rabbi" for that is the subject dealt with. In essence, the editorial says: "The fight against anti-Semitism is secular; the fight against Fascism is secular; the fight for social and economic justice is secular; Zionism is secular. Rabbis have led in these struggles and have encouraged their followers to do likewise; but these followers have gone outside the Synagogue to carry on that fight and the Synagogue has lost them. That is the terrible mistake of the Rabbinate—it has helped secularize American Jewry. 'Jewish secular idealism' (Palestine, etc.) is not Judaism. 'Jewish idealism' must spring from Judaism and be rooted in the synagogue. 'To encourage an idealism divorced from the synagogue is..... not only to devitalize Jewish life but destroy Judaism itself'. Hence the task of the Rabbi is to shift the burden of secular idealism to the layman and to 'devote himself to his proper function which is the advancement of Judaism among Jews', and he must 'concentrate his energies on bringing Jews back to the synagogue'."

I can hear the Agudas Yisroel chortle with joy. "Exactly. That is what we have been saying all along. The job of the Rabbi is to be a Rav, to 'pasken shaalos' (answer ritual questions), to exhort Jews to come to Shul, to observe the Sabbath, the laws of Kashruth and all the other 613 commandments. That's religion. The rest (social and economic justice, Palestine etc.) is secular. At last the American Hebrew has seen the light. At last they 'got religion'."

I, however, am a bit skeptical. I think the Agudas Yisroel would be a bit premature in its joy. I don't think the editorial was referring to the 613 commandments at all when it spoke of the "advancement of Judaism among Jews". As a matter of fact I am somewhat doubtful as to whether the editorialist himself quite knew what he meant. For pray what did he mean by the following: (after discussing the inordinate interest of Rabbis in Palestine he goes on): "The danger lies precisely in the fact that the Rabbinate may be satisfied with a secularistic idealism (Palestine) just because it is Jewish. Jewish secular idealism however is not Judaism. Jewish idealism must spring from Judaism and must have its roots in the synagogue." Would the editorial writer call the prophets of Israel secularists just because their main theme is anti-oppression (Fascism, today) and pro social and economic justice, and pro-Zion? And since when have the struggles against Fascism dictatorial oppression), and for social and economic justice and for the restoration of Palestine been divorced from the synagogue? What synagogue do you attend, and what prayer book do you read, Mr. Editorialist? Certainly not the traditional one wherein is contained many prayers for Zion, for the attainment of social justice, and against oppression. Since when are these secular movements? You state glibly that "neither social justice nor Zionism is synonymous with Judaism" but I wonder whether there could be much Judaism left after we remove "social justice" and "Zionism". Certainly not if we remove social justice from the Judaism the American Hebrew represents..... or was I right when I hinted that the American Hebrew is now an organ of the Agudas Yisroel and you have turned ultra-orthodox? Then I could understand your position for "Judaism" as used in the editorial would then mean something besides being platitude. Maybe the Agudas Yisroel has cause for jubilation after all.

ARREST SHOWS

ternational Office for "stateless" refugees.

Some of these Russians, it was disclosed by the documents, were paid from Nazi sources to travel to Berne to testify against the Jews at the sensational "Protocols" trial. The money appeared to have been obtained chiefly from Alfred Rosenberg, "spiritual leader" of the Third Reich, and Dr. Sievert, one of the editors of Reichruehrer Hitler's Voelkischer Beobachter, chief organ of the German Nazi Party.

In addition to the forthcoming trial of Toedli, the Swiss Federal authorities are starting proceedings against Col. Fleischauer, anti-Semitic lawyer and propagandist, on charges of giving false evidence at the 1934 trial.

"Watch", Britain Told

LONDON—The British Government was urged last week to keep Nazi anti-Semitic propaganda in mind when conducting negotiations with Germany, in an address by Leonard G. Montefiore, co-chairman of the Joint Foreign Committee of the Board of Deputies of British Jews and the Anglo-Jewish Association.

Mr. Montefiore discussed before a meeting of the Board of Deputies the international aspects of Nazi anti-Jewish propaganda in connection with the visit to Berlin by Viscount Halifax, Lord President of the British Cabinet Council.

Referring to Lord Halifax's visit to an exhibition of sports trophies in Germany, Mr. Montefiore said there was another exhibition in Germany where he would have found Jews of all countries held up to ridicule. The allusion was to the Nazi "Eternal Jew" exhibition in Munich.

"If Lord Halifax visited that exhibition," the Jewish leader said, "he would find descriptions designed to hold up to ridicule and hatred the Jews in whatever country they may be. I speak with some feeling as there are some of my own relatives among them."

"I urge that in any general discussion of Anglo-German relations that may take place in the near future these things be borne in mind," Mr. Montefiore continued. "Pillorying insults heaped on citizens of foreign countries cannot in any sense be regarded as a matter of internal policy."

He also held that the collapse of the Nazi regime as the result of a military defeat would not necessarily bring tolerance for the Jews, but rather the probability of increased persecution of Jews.

HALF OF $5,000 FOR J. N. F. RAISED, CONFERENCE HEARS

Speeches And Banquet Highlights Of State Conference Sunday

Assurance that Indiana would raise its pledge of $5,000 for the Jewish National Fund was voiced at the Palestine Day Conference of State Zionist leaders in The Lincoln Hotel Sunday after hearing speeches by the Hon. Morgan Jones, Dr. C. W. Efroymsen, and Dr. Alexander S. Wolf, of St. Louis.

At least half of the $5,000 has already been raised, it was said.

All sessions of the conference were well attended. Governor Townsend sent a message of greeting to the delegates. The Indianapolis Chapter of Hadassah cooperated with the Indianapolis Zionists District in the Conference.

The resolution affirming Indiana's $5,000 pledge read: "We pledge for ourselves and for the Jews in Indiana that the full pledge of $5,000 for the acquisition and redemption of Heulah and Upper Gallilee shall be fulfilled and realized."

Fletcher Trust To Aid In Kosher Meat Distribution

To The Editor:

We enclose a circular descriptive of the operations of the Jewish Friends Food Fund which we believe will be of interest to the readers of your paper. The Fletcher Trust Company will make no charge for handling these orders and it would give us much pleasure to be of service to those who wish to provide their friends and relatives or Jewish hospitals in Germany with kosher meat.

Yours very truly,
E. Hopkins, Manager.
Foreign Department.

General Information

Our fund has been established since February 1937, for the purpose of importing with the permission of the German Government strictly kosher meat into Germany for:

- Individual Families;
- Jewish Hospitals, Orphanages, Homes for the Aged, Soup Kitchens ("General Purposes");
- General Poor ("General Purposes").

As a result of our efforts nearly every observant Jewish family in Germany had kosher meat for Passover. Knowledge of the activities of our fund are spreading far and wide with the result that people all over the world who have friends and relations in Germany send us money in their favour.

Monies should be sent to the Jewish Friends' Food Fund, in care of Midland Bank Ltd., Threadneedle Street, E.C. 2, and to no other address, otherwise long delays may occur for which we can accept no responsibility. It is further absolutely essential that every remittance be accompanied by a letter indicating clearly the full name and address of the donor, as well as the full name and address of the beneficiary. The address of the beneficiary is forwarded by us to the Reichszentrale in Berlin who will communicate with him and ascertain from him whether he desires fresh or frozen meat, the name of the butcher and in what rations the meat should be delivered to him.

Hitherto we have been greatly handicapped in our desire to supply institutions and the poor with kosher meat because the public at large seem to have been thinking chiefly of their friends and very little of the many Jewish hospitals, orphanages and other communal institutions that rely entirely upon us for their supply of kosher meat. Inability on our part to give these institutions the minimum quantity of meat per month might result in those institutions being forced to use treifah meat in future for their inmates.

We would therefore appeal with all the powers at our command to all people in favour of keeping communal institutions on a traditional basis to send us donations earmarked for "General Purposes" so that we can use it exclusively for their benefit. Money is very sorely needed and it would be a real Mitzvah if you could help us.

Yours faithfully,
Julius Jung,
Hon. Secretary.

I. Ferd Kahn Now Heads Firm He Took First Job With

In 1934 he was chairman of the Jewish Welfare Fund campaign; he is vice-president of the Welfare Fund and on the Board of Directors. He belongs to the Broadmoor Country Club, the Indianapolis Athletic Club, the Columbia Club and B'nai B'rith. For diversion and relaxation he goes out to his hundred-acre farm. He also plays golf, but farming is his first love.

He is married and has two daughters, one of whom is married. He also has a grandson. Some years ago he traveled with his family in Europe. He enjoys travel; has traveled extensively over the United States. He is extremely interested in the work of the Joint Distribution Committee of which he is a director. He believes the J. D. C. is filling a vital need for Jewish relief.

He considers the work of the Ort important because teaching Jewish people to work with their hands is important. We Jews must learn to do manual labor. Otherwise our problem of too many professional men will grow, he avers. He has no quarrel with the organizational setup of the Indianapolis Jewish community; believes it is well-organized but that it is unfortunate we have our difference.

Born in Indianapolis, he went to the public schools here, was graduated from Shortridge High

I. FERD KAHN

He left school to take the job with The Capitol Paper Company, the firm he now heads. He has been associated with the firm for thirty-two years. He has been a director of the Jewish Federation for a number of years. At the present time he is treasurer.

Ghost Writing

A glorious week-end. We did some elegant swinging at the Beth El dance in the Murat Thanksgiving night. We drove out to the Junior Council dance at the Broadmoor Saturday night and then sat in on the intellectual discussion at the Palestine Day Conference Sunday. Which is mixing business with pleasure or vice-versa. Bernice Kaplan, who formerly wrote this column, contributes the following about Junior Council heart throbs. . . . Bernice was in from I. U. for the dance. . . . She says:

Junior Council

A lot of the popular "men about town" were greatly disappointed at not receiving bids for the Junior Council dance held at Broadmoor Saturday night. . . . No Stags were allowed at the affair, and the dating committee was rushed at the last minute with requests from the fellows for dates "with anybody, just so I get there." . . . Highlights of the evening were the continuous "Big Apple" dances which would have been great successes except not all the participants were clear as to what came next, and those who weren't in on it didn't have any room in which they could dance. . . . It seemed to be an accepted rule that no one was to remain with his date for very long, but some of the more faithful were Ethel Kaplan and David Tavel, Lillian Kay and Harold Segal, he's one of the Symphony boys, Ida Logan and Norman Weisman. . . . Then there were Rae Lea Binzer and Mutty Weinstein, Adele Herwitz and Ed Rose, Carolyn Strauss and George Breman, Miriam Sicanoff and Sigmund Brenner, Rosemary Freiberg and Sam Cohen. . . . Jeanne Sacks and Jerry Ettinger. . . . Sylvia Werner dancing with Henry Heller of I. U., Sally Maurer and Josh Fineberg, Gaby Schuchman and Whitney Greenberg in tails, Morris Kaplan, engineer, talking to the vocalist in the orchestra. . . . Abe Bornstein interested in the floor show. . . . Louie Silver rolling up his shirt sleeves, Sylvia Maierman with a young man from Purdue, Helen Oppenheim with Julius Maurer, Sylvia Epstein and Henry Podkin, Bernice Kaseff having a general good time, Mildred Freeman dancing every dance. . . . Evelyn Lob and Louise Goldman, Mildred Cohen and Nate Sachs, Goldie Pallman celebrating her birthday. . . . Roy Klezmer and Honey Bernstein, Florence Slutsky and Herman Bernstein.

Basketball

We've suddenly become basketball conscious. Have you heard about the famous Goldsmith's Secos winning their third straight victory by defeating Banner-Whitchill 61 to 38. That's the kind of score we'd like to bet on. . . . with the betting on Nate Regen, Pinky Davis, J. and A. Zuckerman and Rube Reisberg, who play a mean game. Max Goldsmith will schedule a game with anybody now. Just ask him. . . . Li. 1612. . . . Abe Goldsmith does the coaching. . . . Eternal gratitude to Norman Weisman for his statement: "Indianapolis has the nicest and prettiest group of Jewish girls I've seen anywhere." Norman's been around, too, so take a bow, girls! . . . And Indianapolis young men please note. There's nothing like publicity for the home town.

Hobnobbing With Star

If you want to know all about Joan Bennet—that is, what she's really like. . . . just ask Mr. and Mrs. William Rosenthal. They helped entertain her when she played here last week in "Stage Door". At the Kirshbaum Gym the other night we looked for the mechanical horse that wasn't there. . . . just our idea how to ride a horse and be safe. . . . we did ride the mechanical bicycle. . . . tried the rowing machine, too. . . . you ought to see the new equipment. . . . better still, use it, if you want to reduce. . . . P. S. we didn't. . . . reduce, we mean. . . .

At The Conference

Some of the people at the speakers' table with the Hon. Morgan Jones, M. P. . . . in formals, bigosh and looking oh so swellegant. . . . Rabbi and Mrs. Charry, Senator and Mrs. Weiss, Josh Fineberg, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Greenwald. . . . Confidentially, there was a grand formal dance at the Junior Hadassah convention in Detroit with Hannah Leah Miller, the Indianapolis delegate, the belle of the ball. Jim Brill says he joined Junior Hadassah. . . . he was in Detroit for the week-end and attended some of the sessions of the convention. . . . Bob Mack still attends classes at Butler under Prof. Jordan. . . . that's the philosophy department. . . . Bob hopes to get his doctorate in philosophy.

PRIZES AWARDED

Sylvia Jacobs won first prize for selling the most tickets for a raffle at a joint meeting of the Bialik Club and the Noar Club Monday night in the Talmud Torah Building. Second prize was won by Ralph Kaplan who also won the cash prize offered by Irving Ruben, sponsor of the Bialik Club.

DIAL TWISTERS: You are about to get a break, you people who twirl the dials to tune in on foreign language news broadcasts..... Particularly Jewish hours..... Because there has just been organized in New York City a firm calling itself Continental Radio Press which will specialize in serving small radio stations with a foreign language newscasting service..... For the first time Jewish news will be served up in the crisp, accurate style of the big broadcasting chains..... The news will be piping hot, too, since it will be brought to the listeners direct from the news agencies instead of being lifted, 24 hours later, from the newspapers..... The outfit, incidentally, is headed by a non-Jew who has big-time newspaper experience..... Here's hoping he can bring order out of the chaos that has existed in the small radio stations as far as their newscasting is concerned.....

GLASS SALESMAN: Here's a tip for you, if you represent a firm that produces shatterproof panes..... Jewish residents of a Polish village have just appealed for glass that will resist the assaults of anti-Semitic hoodlums..... If you can finance a trip to Poland, you can clean up by selling carloads of the glass that sheds rocks like a duck sheds water.... Every Jewish shop in Poland is a prospect.....

LEO CHERTOK: If you are really going through with your suit against Haile Selassie, to get him to cough up the $100,000 you claim to have spent on that option to half of Ethiopia which Mussolini kept you from exercising, forget it..... Haile is probably the most judgment-proof guy in the world..... (Leo is a cousin of Moshe Shertok of Jerusalem.)

WEDDING BELLS: Dear Hsriet Bienstock, it's perfectly swell that you're going to marry this London fellow, Si Clayton, who just arrived from England on the Queen Mary..... But what about your boss, who is also our boss?..... We hear he'll have to go into hock to buy you a wedding present since he's been losing heavily (all of five bucks) betting with the smarter boys in the office on Columbia football games.....

MISH-MASH: While Prof. Mordecai Kaplan of the Jewish Theological Seminary is capably filling a chair at the Hebrew University in Jerusalem, his daughter Naomi is studying medicine at the American School in Beirut, Syria..... Believe it or not, we know a rabbi who lives on a street named for a famous cardinal..... He's Rabbi Meyer Ashkenazi, who lives at 308 Rue Cardinal Mercier, Shanghai..... The late Lord Rothschild left an estate of less than $500,000, outside the value of his zoological fuseum..... His fortune was so small because the first Lord Rothschild cut him out of his will when he quit London to follow the paths of science..... The American Hebrew will be coming out with a 64-page Constitution issue Dec. 10... Dr. Isaac Goldberg, newest J. T. A. columnist, is putting the finishing touches on a couple of new books while visiting in New York at the St. Moritz..... For the first time in thirty years, the London Jewish Chronicle is changing its type face.... Norwegians will have the opportunity to read I. J. Singer's masterpiece, "The Brothers Ashkenazi," a Norwegian translation having just been published in Oslo.....

Certain cooperative groups in isolated sections of Palestine had no means of seeing a moving picture..... some of the inhabitants had never seen one. A plan was devised whereby projection equipment was mounted on a truck, creating a travelling flicker show. Came the big night..... six hundred spectators eagerly awaited the "premiere.".... Connecticut Town Bans Nazi Camp, Calls It 'Un-Christian'

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

SOUTHURY, Conn.—Some 160 farmers and townspeople, most of them of Yankee extraction, voted at a special town meeting last week to bar the pro-Nazi German-American Bund from establishing a camp here.

A unanimous resolution was adopted condemning the establishment within the town of "any organization which is governed or directed by a foreign government."

The meeting then voted to establish a zoning commission, which, it is understood, will rule, as soon as it is organized, that the land acquired here by the Bund is not suitable for camping purposes.

The Bund last month quietly bought some 500 acres bordering on Lake Zoar. Aroused by what many called an incipient Nazi invasion, the townspeople called the meeting to prevent the Bund from opening its camp here.

The meeting, which was held in the Congregational Church because the Town Hall was too small, was presided over by the Rev. M. E. N. Lindsey, pastor of the church, who acted as moderator. Mr. Lindsey told his congregation from the pulpit last Sunday that the Bund was an "un-Christian, un-American, insidious menace."

Every resident of the town received a special appeal in the mails to attend the meeting, with a reprint of a magazine article attached on the Nazi camp movement in the United States calling it a direct arm of German Government propaganda.

Clergymen Opposed

By Conference of Jews, Christians
HARTFORD, Conn.—Connecticut clergymen joined in the strong opposition that has been voiced in this state since it was announced that the German-American Bund had purchased 178 acres of land in Southbury for the purpose of establishing what will be its largest camp in the United States.

Rabbi Abraham J. Feldman of Temple Israel of Hartford, writing in the Jewish Ledger, asked that Connecticut make the proposed Nazi camp as unwelcome as possible, asserting that such camps are "subversive of everything that is nobly and decently American." Rev. M. Edgar N. Lindsay, pastor of the South Britain Congregational Church of Southbury, denounced the camp as an "insidious menace," urged its elimination and hit at Nazism in general. He declared that such camps were undesirable because they were "un-Christian, un-American, and pro-Nazi."

G-Men Probe Camp

By Conference of Jews, Christians
MILWAUKEE—Backed solidly by the American Legion and the Boy Scouts of America as well as Wisconsin Protestant, Catholic and Jewish organizations, special agents of the Bureau of investigation of the Department of Justice arrived in Milwaukee to launch inquiry into the Nazi organization's Camp Hindenburg near Grafton, Wis.

"I tuned a RADIO STAR in on America's finest whiskey"

HE SAID

"I've tasted whiskeys that were notable for one quality or another, but when you say that Four Roses has every quality—naturally, I'm skeptical."

I SAID

"All right—imagine several singers, each outstanding for some quality... range, or power, or timbre... fused into a single singer. How would he shape up?"

HE SAID

"He could name his own terms on a Pole-to-Pole hook-up!"

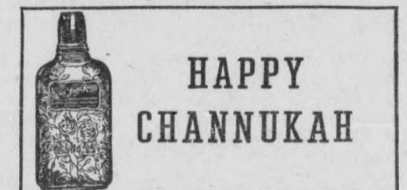

I SAID

"That gives you an idea why Four Roses is one of the most glorious combinations of whiskey virtues ever brought together in one liquor."

"You see, Four Roses is not just one, but several straight whiskeys (and nothing but straight whiskeys!). And each whiskey is specially selected to contribute some particular quality at its best."

"By blending these whiskeys together the way we know how, we merge the virtues of them all into one liquor that has every whiskey virtue. This whiskey, Four Roses, is America's finest—regardless of age or price!"

Frankfort Distilleries, Incorporated, Louisville & Baltimore, also make Paul Jones, Old Oscar Pepper Brand, and Mattingly & Moore (each 90 proof) — all blends of straight whiskeys.

Groups Alert To Dangers Of Discrimination

By Conference of Jews, Christians

NEW YORK—Clergy and laymen of the Catholic, Jewish and Protestant faiths are finding it increasingly advantageous to work together to allay prejudices between groups in American communities. Mrs. Jesse M. Bader, women's secretary of the National Conference of Jews and Christians, reported here today on her return from a tour through twenty-seven American cities where she addressed inter-faith meetings.

Alert to the dangers of group discrimination, she said, women of the Catholic faith took leading parts in meetings in many of the cities, recalling opposition to persons of their belief in electoral campaigns. Influential Jews in the twenty-seven cities also joined in the discussion, and helped in the creation of permanent committees to oppose discrimination against their co-religionists in violation of civil rights.

Major obstacles to the cooperation of persons of the three faiths, she said, were fears by some that cooperation would weaken ties to their particular denomination, plus the desire to convert others to their own way of thinking.

As against those obstacles she cited the pride in Americanism evinced by speakers in a Pittsburgh hotel during one of her meetings, when a Catholic nun, a Jewish rabbi, a Protestant Negro once barred from the hotel where he spoke, and herself as a Protestant were speakers. Only in the United States, she pointed out, could such a gathering be possible.

Wagner Praises Palestine Work

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

NEW YORK—The development and Jewish resettlement of Palestine represents the "most successful nationalist movement launched in our life-time," Senator Robert F. Wagner declared last week at a dinner given by the Jewish National Fund.

"As we reflect upon the events of the last thirty-five years," Senator Wagner said, "we realize what extraordinary faith, what superhuman courage and what divine inspiration were required to lay the practical foundations for a Jewish national homeland."

"Poland has now become free, Arabia has become free, and as for Palestine, with its far greater record of constructive achievement, there can be no stopping short until the land of Israel wins its complete international freedom."

Arab Condemned By Army Court

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

JERUSALEM—Sheikh Farhan Essadi, 70-year-old Arab terrorist chief was sentenced in Haifa last week to death by hanging in the newly-created military tribunal's first trial.

The trial was conducted by Major Fawkes and two other army officers. The verdict received the necessary confirmation of Major General A. P. Wavell, commander-in-chief of British forces in Palestine, from whose decision there is no appeal and the Sheikh was to be hung at Acre on Nov. 27.

Three Jews were seriously injured in an Arab attack in Haifa, while the newly-established military courts scheduled new trials of alleged Arab terrorists.

Noah Kuper, 28 years old, Walter Mendelsohn and Yona Michaelovitch were returning to Haifa from the Nesher Cement Factory when two Arabs fired on their car with an automatic revolver and escaped.

The military court at Haifa, which sentenced Sheikh Farhan, called its second session to try three of the terrorist leader's accomplices. The Jerusalem military court Monday was to try Mohammed Ali, arrested Nov. 23 in Jaffa for carrying a revolver.

Witnesses Protected
Prior to opening of Farhan's trial, the Government forbade publication of witnesses' names, supposedly to prevent reprisals. Counsel for the accused included Moghanam el Moghanam, an American citizen and a Nashashibist.

The trial took less than three hours. Only two witnesses were presented by the prosecutor to support charges that the Sheikh had been caught in possession of arms, in violation of the recently decreed emergency regulation which makes that and acts of terrorist punishable by death. The prosecution refused to mitigate sentence in view of the prisoner's age.

Creation of the military courts has apparently had a discouraging effect on Arab terrorist bands. One of the largest, which had been

All Rumanian Parties Adopt Anti-Semitism

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

BUCHAREST—The approaching general elections next month find all Rumanian political parties having anti-Semitic programs as the National Peasants Party, previously considered democratic, joined the Iron Guard in an election bloc and adopted an anti-Jewish platform.

A manifesto was distributed to the population in the Mehedinti department in which the Peasants Party undertakes to give peasants the right to possess arms and promises to allow them "to penetrate into the heart of cities and drive out all Jews and aliens who monopolized Rumanian trade and industry."

The move came after Julius Maniu, newly-elected president of the Peasants Party, conferred at the end of the Fascist anti-Semitic Iron Guard, and was understood to have entered into an election bloc in opposition to the Tararescu government. This agreement greatly surprised political circles. The "Disident Liberals," headed by Constantin Bratiani, were also said to have joined the bloc.

This opposition bloc, which will contest the elections for a new Parliament against a government bloc comprising Premier Georg Tatarescu's Liberal Party, Prof. Alexander Vaida-Voevod's Rumanian Front and Prof. Nicolae Jorga's National Democrats, will seek to ensure "free elections."

Meanwhile, the Union of Rumanian Women, the most important women's organization in the country, at a congress presided over by the anti-Semitic Princess Alexandra Cantacubina, adopted a series of anti-Semitic resolutions. The union demanded supremacy for Rumanian labor in all fields of activity, a prohibition on mixed marriages, dismissal of state and municipal employees who marry women of "non-Rumanian blood," establishment of a ten-year residence requirement for naturalization and a prohibition on allowing foreigners to establish themselves in Rumania.

International obligations will be respected by Rumania in drafting measures for the "protection of national labor," it was asserted by Premier Georg Tatarescu in a proclamation to the nation in which he outlined his Government's policy on minorities.

operating in the hills between Ramleh and Artuf, dispersed, its members hiding their weapons and scattering to various villages. Troops are searching for the hidden weapons.

Eighty truckloads of troops were reported dispatched from Haifa to search for terrorists in the nearby hills. An Arab band was said to have been engaged by the troops between the villages of Fasuta and Tarding, but apparently escaped to the frontier. Aircraft have joined in the pursuit.

French Add Troops
Reports from Syria said a Palestine band of more than 100 under the leadership of Abul Barahim, Palestine Arab, had penetrated Lebanon via Syria and that French gendarmerie had rushed reinforcements to the frontier forces.

Round Table Groups Of 3 Faiths Planned

By Conference of Jews, Christians

NEW YORK—A campaign to organize round table conferences of Protestants, Catholics and Jews in hundreds of cities and towns throughout the country will feature the 10th anniversary celebration of the founding of the National Conference of Jews and Christians, it was announced by Dr. Everett R. Clinchy.

Dr. Clinchy announced that President Roosevelt has accepted the Honorary Chairmanship of the Tenth Anniversary Celebration Committee which will conduct the campaign from now until shortly after next Washington's birthday. The President, in endorsing the movement, Dr. Clinchy stated, said it would be fitting to have such an interfaith round table "in every town, city and rural community in the country."

Pastors Fear Bingo Raids As 'Heat' On

By Conference of Jews, Christians

CINCINNATI—With the seizure of thirty penny and nickel slot-machines, several punchboards, and fruit-cakes and candies from cafes and confectionery stores, Police Chief Eugene T. Weatherly of Cincinnati began an anti-gambling drive that had been promised by the city manager, Colonel Robert Sherrill. The campaign is to be extended to race bet bookies, gambling operators in liquor places and others involved in commercialized gambling.

Speaking before the Lions' Club, the city manager explained that he had no intention of including church bingo in the drive. "I am glad to see that bingo games are not being advertised or publicized by their supporters in the way they used to be," he said. Nevertheless, the rumor spread that church bingo games were to be raided by the police, and a worried company of clergymen came to the city hall. Councilman Nicholas Klein announced that he would meet with a group of pastors to discuss ways of keeping racketeers out of church bingos, but the meeting was not held.

Games Banned

By Conference of Jews, Christians

MILWAUKEE—Chance games at church or institution benefits for which prizes are given in money or its equivalent were banned by Most Rev. Samuel A. Stritch, Archbishop of Milwaukee, in a letter to priests of his archdiocese.

ARRESTS CONTINUED

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

DANZIG—Arrests of Jewish industrialists and confiscation of their property on charges of tax evasion continued here last week. Among those known to have been seized is the owner of a biscuit factory, management of which was turned over to an "Aryan." A tobacco factory owned by a Jew named Hirsh has been confiscated.
